

IWR Colloquium

Winter Semester 2019 / 2020

December 4, 2018 • 16:15

Mathematikon, Conference Room / 5th Floor
Im Neuenheimer Feld 205, 69120 Heidelberg

Speaker:

Manuela Schmidt, Agile Coach

Title:

"Agile - more than just Post-Its and Stand-Ups"

Abstract:

"Agile" has become a big buzzword not only in software development. To understand agile project management it helps to distinguish between agile values, principles, techniques and methods:

- Agile Values provide the foundation
- Agile Principles are based on agile values and are guidelines for actions
- Agile Techniques are putting the values and principles into practice
- Agile Methods are based on agile techniques to provide a framework for agile project management

We are going to have a look on the meaning of those terms and how existing frameworks could be used in an academic scientific research environment. In addition to the advantages these project management methods can bring we are also going to talk about its limitations and possible pitfalls.

Website IWR-Colloquium:

www.iwr.uni-heidelberg.de/iwr-colloquium